

Candidate Application

After eight successful seasons, Divine Design is no longer in production. Don't despair – Candice has an all new design show, with the same beautiful transformations you have come to expect.

The new show is called Candice Tells All, with Candice on a mission to reveal the secrets of timeless design principles. Candice will showcase a room's true potential through her design transformations, giving advice on how to achieve the same look at home. Candice will not only highlight design concepts, but will take viewers on a journey demonstrating how she gets her inspiration.

To be considered we need to find out a lot about you! For example: your choices in design styles, your lifestyle, background, interests and hobbies. The more information that you share, the better for us to get a full understanding of your home, personality and ultimately, your design dilemma. Please note that each homeowner is required to make a financial contribution to the project.

Produced by Fusion Television in association with W Network.
